Yesterday's Louisville Coerier has the following:
The river was falling in earnest yesterday, and it is now at a lower stage, than at any former period this seasen, with only three foet one inch water in the Canal last evening, by the mark. During the previous twenty-four hours the water had receded tolly two inches at the head of the fails, and six inches at Portland, leaving but four and a half freit water on the bar. The weather has turned very warm and oppressive, and quite cloudy last evening, indicating more rain.

The Lower Ohio is now lower and at a more unnavigable stage than at any former period this seasen, the B. M. Patron No. 2, that arrived last evening, reporting but three fact four inches on Scuffictown bar and several boats aground on that bar.

The receipts by the river during the past month have been unusually large for the season of the year, including over 100,000 bushels of castl; 150,000 bushels of grain; 7,605 barrels of four; 5,406 barrels of whisky; 550 tune of pig-iron; ere barrels of to beco; 120 hogsheads and 1,546 barrels of sugar.

The area. The arrivals at New Orleans during the week ding Friday noon were forty-four, Delia remarks:

The weekly receipts show an increase of over 2,000 bales of cotton over the praceding week, but all other articles are but sparingly represented. The low-water season, as yet, shows itself in full vigor. The large-class packets are unable to run, while even the light-draught boats which are running can not bring down very heavy freights.

The laves yesterlar did not hole quite as lively as to ought to on the last day of the week, and arrivals as well as departures were sense that Huited, T. J.
